As we reflect on the past year, we are filled with gratitude for your unwavering support and partnership with Cancer Wellness Center. “In This Together” truly reflects the essence of our community spirit. Together, we have created a lifeline for patients and their loved ones navigating the challenges of cancer, providing them with support, community, and guidance during their most difficult moments.

As incoming leaders, we are excited to build upon the strong foundation established over the last three decades. We are grateful for your contributions, which have ensured that more people seeking critical services can receive them free of charge so that cost is never a barrier. Your support has expanded programs, strengthened community awareness, and forged deeper partnerships with healthcare and community partners.

Here are just a few of the remarkable achievements we accomplished together:

- Served a record 2,046 participants – a 12% increase – through counseling, support groups, education, wellness, and nutrition programs.
- Facilitated over 25 support groups specifically designed for patients, caregivers, and those who are grieving a loss. Among these, we launched a new meaning-centered group, inspired by research from a nationally recognized cancer center.
- Expanded our counseling team and enhanced our programs for children, teens, and young adults to address the unique challenges faced by younger members of our community.
- Engaged and celebrated our donor community by hosting a special event to share information on AI innovations in cancer care.
- Grew our community of donors, partners, and fundraising support, resulting in greater awareness and impact.

In the pages ahead, you will read stories of the impact you made possible this past year. Our participants, families, donors, volunteers, and staff are in this together. Because of you, anyone touched by cancer can find a way forward.

PAM'S STORY

Feeling Understood

"In 2021, my husband Jack said that he felt 'off'. He was exhausted after only a few miles on his bike, a stark contrast to his usual stamina. In the blink of an eye, he was withering before my eyes.

Jack was diagnosed with stage 4 liver cancer, and we were devastated. The tumor was inoperable, and he was given 1-2 years to live, if the medicine worked. We went through various treatments, but the tumor was aggressive. I knew the clock was ticking and was trying to make every single memory count – for me, for Jack, for my kids. But I was tired.

A colleague knew I needed to talk to someone that could understand what I was going through as a caregiver. She saw that I was lost and overwhelmed and suggested I call the Cancer Wellness Center.

At the Center, I saw my therapist while Jack was in hospice and kept meeting weekly after the funeral. Talking with someone who understood cancer's complexities helped me recognize that I was doing my best and that my efforts were valuable, even if not perfect.

My kids needed another outlet to talk about their dad and express their feelings. They joined a family grief group which offered them a safe space to process their emotions and feel less alone.

Cancer Wellness Center has been there for me and my family in so many ways. It is literally one of our favorite places. It's not just a place where we discuss our struggles, but a place where we feel understood and supported."

Caring for Children & Families

"I think the Child Life program has really benefitted my daughter by having a safe person with whom she can share concerns and ask questions. I have noticed a decrease in her overall level of anxiety about it and she seems comfortable asking me questions about cancer."

Caring for Our Community

Pizza Pam is what some of our younger participants call Pam Uhlig, a volunteer at the Cancer Wellness Center for over 4 years. One of the first programs she helped with was the “Kids Takeover CWC: Pizza Making”, an event for families facing cancer. The program is designed to allow parents to have a night out while kids enjoy making pizza and new friends. Pam provided an extra set of hands to help with the pizza-making so that our Child Life Specialist could focus on creating meaningful connections and conversations with the kids.

“I have so much respect for what the staff does, that I want to make sure I do my part in creating a good experience for the people who come here.”

Pam’s first visit to the Cancer Wellness Center was for a workshop for patients newly diagnosed with cancer. After being diagnosed with breast cancer, the patient navigator from her care team had suggested she attend.

“1 in 4 people will have cancer. At that moment I knew I wanted to give back to the cancer care community.

My husband was an oncology pharmacist, and the majority of our friends were pharmacists, nurses, and doctors, so I felt I had a lot of support during that time. A few years later when I was ready to give back, I knew I wanted to do it here (the Center) since it had been so highly recommended by people close to me.”

During the pandemic, Pam began planning for an active retirement by reaching out to the Center to understand the different types of volunteer positions that were available. Slowly, Pam began to work in different capacities and eventually found her skills in project management were incredibly valuable in helping with the Center’s data needs. Every Thursday, you will see Pam at the Center entering data into our systems and helping at the front desk.

“I like coming here. I’ve worked in every corner of the building and know most of the staff. My family and friends know that I’m committed to being here weekly. In fact, I brag about coming here as it is top on my list of places to spend my time...it’s my home away from home.”

Caring for Physical Health & Well-Being

“Education about nutrition and food was especially important to me. Due to the amount of information out there, I really appreciated the group so we could focus on good sources of information as well as specific questions.”

Jenn, Participant

BRETT'S STORY

DONOR SPOTLIGHT

Getting Through it Together

It can be hard for cancer patients to talk to their loved ones about their diagnosis. Brett Kroner understood the significance of this when his mom brought home a pamphlet about the Center. “I am surprised my mom came in,” he recalled. His mom, who silently navigated six different cancer diagnoses, realized the value of the Center. “If used the right way, given a chance, the [Center] will help you get through the toughest time in your life.”

Inspired by his mom and the support she received as a participant at the Center, Brett joined the Board of Directors and chaired the annual Better Together Benefit because “there are real people – those diagnosed, their loved ones, their friends, the Center’s staff – that make up the Cancer Wellness Center Community, and they need this place. They need the support of everyone in the room, so that the Center still runs for those here now and those that will come in the future.”

As the Benefit Chair, Brett, left everyone in the room with one big takeaway. He implored the audience to remember that the Cancer Wellness Center is “free...but it’s not really free.”

Brett acknowledged the significant costs to run the Center and emphasized the crucial role donors play in sustaining its operations. He reflected on a time when the Center almost didn’t survive and expressed his gratitude for the community’s support.

As the Cancer Wellness Center continues to grow and expand, so does the need for continued funding to support its programs and services. That’s why fundraising and events like the annual Benefit are so essential. Nearly 70% of the Center’s budget is funded by the generosity of individual donors.

Every dollar raised is crucial in ensuring that services remain available at no cost to those facing cancer. We are grateful for the role our donors play in our community.

Brett’s closing words at the Benefit resonated with everyone present, “It’s vital that people not only get through the Center’s doors, but that the doors remain open. “
